Here is the scoop: I purchased this boat on Lake Champlain in 88. She has been both dry sailed and kept in the water over the years, raced some when my son was in his teens, but mostly daysailed as a family boat. The summers that we did some racing I purchased a North spinnaker and a Haarstick Genoa. Neither of these sails has seen much use, maybe 10-15x max. The Jib and main are older, Dacron, fine for daysailing, The Main would need to be upgraded for the boat to race in a competitive fleet. There is a Triad Trailer, I use it for moving the boat a few miles to the club from storage. It would not go over the road without some one going over it carefully. The motor is a Yamaha 3. I do not know its age, maybe 10 years or so. Hull is original white gelcoat, cleans up very nicely. Deck has a few soft spots, nothing that has kept me from sailing her, we repaired the deck under the stbd cockpit 3 years back when it needed it. Bottom is VC 17 Typical safety equipment, cushions ect are included. It would be a nice boat to day sail and race casually. Or if you are ambitious, rehab to race seriously. We purchased a cruising boat to spend weekends on the water away from our home port on a whim this spring. There was nothing that would have kept us from launching the J boat and sailing her again this season other than our change in interests.
